Morrison's Tariff Bill to Be Pushed to the Front Early This Week.

The Bankruptcy Bill—The Mississippi Outrages—The Week's Program in House and Senate.

THE MEXICAN TREATY

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 20.—[Special.]—The friends of the Mexican treaty have waited about seven minutes that the bill to put it in operation has not yet been sent to the Senate from the State Department. This appreciation arises from a misunderstanding of the situation. The amendment made to the treaty by the United States Senate at repeal required ratification by the Mexican Government. It was supposed here that the Mexican Foreign Office had been authorized prior to the Mexican Congress to ratify any amendment which might be made without the necessity of submitting it to the Mexican Congress. It has since been learned, however, that such is not the fact, and the amendment requires the ratification of the Mexican Congress. The charges preferred by our Senate have been submitted to the Mexican Congress, and Mexican Senators and yesterday that he was daily expecting to be notified of the final ratification of the treaty. The State Department, of course, cannot send to the House the text of the bill for the act to put the treaty into operation until official information that have been received by the Mexican Government that the amendment of our Senate has been approved by the Mexican Government, the text of the bill, which is already drafted at the State Department, will be sent to the House. This bill will be referred to the Committee on Ways and Means, as it relates to revenue matters.

NO CHANCE OF ACTION.

There is no chance of action on the bill this session, and but little hope of its passage at the next session. The Democratic majority in the House is not large enough to pass the bill over the veto, and the Republicans in the Senate will not allow it to be taken up. The Democratic members of the Foreign Affairs Committee who have been in favor of the measure are not disposed to press it in the face of the Senate's action, and there is no doubt that the Democratic majority in the House will be disposed to let the matter drop. Should the Senate pass the bill, however, it will be pressed by the Democratic members of the Foreign Affairs Committee, and will probably pass the House.

THE TARIFF BILL.

A MESSAGE TO BE EXPECTED IN WEEK.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 20.—[Special.]—The Ways and Means Committee will meet on Tuesday next to consider the Morrison tariff bill. It is the intention of the Democratic majority to report the bill to the House during the week, and it is probable that it will be taken up for consideration on Thursday next. The Republican members of the committee have not yet decided what course they will pursue in the matter of the bill, but it is probable that they will not make any attempt to prevent its consideration during the week.

THE BANKRUPTCY BILL.

The Senate Committee on the Judiciary will meet on Tuesday next to consider the bankruptcy bill. It is the intention of the committee to report the bill to the Senate during the week, and it is probable that it will be taken up for consideration on Thursday next. The Republican members of the committee have not yet decided what course they will pursue in the matter of the bill, but it is probable that they will not make any attempt to prevent its consideration during the week.

THE MISSISSIPPI OUTRAGES.

The Committee on Privileges and Elections of the Senate will meet on Tuesday next to consider the report of the sub-committee which investigated the outrages in Yazoo County, Mississippi. The report is known to Senator Hoar, and is very unfavorable. It will be presented to the Senate as soon as acted upon by the full committee. The evidence taken before Senator Hoar's sub-committee is very full, and it is thought that the report will be presented to the Senate during the week. The Democratic members of the Foreign Affairs and Ways and Means Committees, who have been appointed a special committee to investigate the charges against Consul-General Taylor at Montreal, will meet during the week to consider the report of the sub-committee.

THE WEEK'S PROGRAM.

IN THE HOUSE.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 20.—The regular order of the House of Representatives is the consideration of bills, and to the end of compelling the consideration of bills on the call of committees the Committee on Rules will meet on Tuesday next. The Committee on Foreign Affairs will meet on Tuesday next to consider a large appropriation for the new Congressional Library. Some friends of the measure have intimated that an effort should be made to secure its passage, Mr. Hopkins, Chairman, however, will make no attempt to have the bill passed separately, because the committee would not be able to get a quorum present. It is generally understood that the bill will be reported as an amendment to the Sundry Civil bill, and will be considered in connection with that measure. The Committee on Agriculture will meet on Tuesday next to consider the bill for the establishment of a department of agriculture, and it is probable that it will be reported during the week. The Committee on Public Lands will meet on Tuesday next to consider the bill for the establishment of a land district in Oregon, and it is probable that it will be reported during the week. The Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds will meet on Tuesday next to consider the bill for the erection of a public building at Omaha, and it is probable that it will be reported during the week. The Committee on Appropriations will meet on Tuesday next to consider the Sundry Civil bill, and it is probable that it will be reported during the week. The Committee on Rivers and Harbors will meet on Tuesday next to consider the bill for the improvement of the Mississippi River, and it is probable that it will be reported during the week. The Committee on Commerce will meet on Tuesday next to consider the bill for the improvement of the Mississippi River, and it is probable that it will be reported during the week. The Committee on Foreign Affairs will meet on Tuesday next to consider the bill for the improvement of the Mississippi River, and it is probable that it will be reported during the week. The Committee on Public Lands will meet on Tuesday next to consider the bill for the improvement of the Mississippi River, and it is probable that it will be reported during the week. The Blind Owners by Gen. Miles to a Lecture Before the Society for Ethical Culture.

The Trouble Due Not to Improper Laws, but a Failure to Enforce Good Ones.

Chicago Must Overhaul the Corrupt Practices of the Liberal Carriers to Avoid Ruin.

Gen. J. G. Johnson lectured before the Society for Ethical Culture at Fifteen Minute Hall yesterday on "The Need of the Universal Spirit." He said that the social evils were not due to imperfect laws but from the want of a spirit in the proper administration of the existing law. While failure to enforce the law rested primarily with those who had charge of the administration, the final responsibility for its proper administration rested only on the people.

[illegible] matters.

He recalled a case of the administration of the law existing in the people which rested under his own observation. In a little town in the mining region of Montana situated 1,000 miles northwest of this city, a court despatch arrived on conditions existing and on request from the people the supreme court despatched a judge to that locality. The supreme court judge found that the people of the town generally favored the enforcement of the law, but that a small minority, backed by the power of the liquor traffic, had defied the law and the authorities of the county. THE HUNGRY BUTCHER.

The season of trade this spring has been disappointing even to those whose expectations of improvement were most moderate. In the very heart of the season, when, if ever, great activity is to be expected, there are signs of actual retrogression. The bank clearings are falling off (exceptions are not lacking); railroad earnings are not holding their own; bank failures are frequent; gold is leaving the country rapidly; capital is shunning the usual venues; and there are many signs of disturbed money the more alarming symptoms as accurate data such as not existed. Every week brings some new evidence of unfavorable impression. This time it is a cut in the rates for passengers across the ocean. Unless foreign ing bid for some time has unprofitable, and now the carriage of emigrants is an occasion of the keenest competition. The depression is world-wide, and a cautious keen comparison with other countries is the best antidote to unreasonable fear.

In our home trade there is nothing on which we have special reason for complaint. The result that the Union Pacific Railroad Company is going to adopt eight [illegible] it quite free or had to a suppression of what is likely to happen on a large scale. The agitation has had variety, for it never went here to take its turn. A collection of 4 per cent in the way of all such trade as sterling silver 30 a day has been ordered on the Grand Trunk, and the Toledo, Cincinnati & St. Louis Road is to a fight with its employés. It will be strange if the not considerable to which other lines are subjected does not have economies to the running expenses that will soon suffering among the laborers. The disagreement between the Pittsburg bituminous and their employés over the proposed reduction of 15 per cent has an ominous look. It involves an entire suspension of work at the close of next month unless a new very little prospect. The coal miners in Pennsylvania and all over the West are in a attitude of resistance to their employers, and the condition of the coal trade does the hope of any improvement in the situation for months. The determination of Thos. V. P. have submitted to a reduction of 10 per cent after an interval of six months, and such will now be enforced. The Rail River strikers are being gradually worn out and will no doubt soon surrender.

Reports in the trade are still uniform, but checks are not accumulating largely. The manufacturers are generally waiting to order. Some of them have their orders, others have to go over of last year's, and still others are much behind still. The demand for clothing in New York is smaller than last year at this time. The advance in the price of leather seems to have been a serious blow to the boot and shoe trade. It takes away the profits of the manufacturers, who are unable to get a corresponding advance in the prices for their goods. The iron market is a constant disappointment to the operators. After so long period of low prices it is still weak, with a tendency to decline. Auctioneers, the fact that a system of combination exceeding into the control has been determined on is a sufficient summary of the situation. In both the coal and the iron interest there is a powerful movement restrict and embarrassed of the cause of the more profitable production.

Many of the stocks bought and sold on Wall street upon prices which would seem ridiculously low if only the dividends paid by them were taken into consideration, but there are never here to take to have a time when the privilege to general business was then there was a greater probability of a decline than now. The talk of reducing dividends is becoming more and more prominent, and confidence that such companies as Western Union, Union Pacific, Missouri Pacific, St. Paul, and Lake Shore will continue to pay the present rate is at a very low ebb. The country is not having Wall street, and it will take a period of business and of confidence, of which there are now no signs, to bring the people to its support.

RESPONSE IN NEW YORK.

The state attorney of Governor Flower-ites made his reform reputation by saying where the New York Times had placed and down—before getting his label to the Democratic Club and giving expression to its indignant statements, should have heard about him to his own State and was what the Republican party is doing to relieve. A day or two ago seven more of the Roosevelt reforms this, Republican in their origin and attempt, were passed, and whatever of opposition they encountered was Democratic. Those bills were drawn to relieve evils of government in the charged Democratic city in the United States, and to remove the ground which has been laid by his administration and public faithlessness since the last of the Tweed ring. As one New York paper says: "Each bill will destroy the privilege and shortage that have enabled the dominant party in this county to perpetuate their power so long. Each bill must have added to the Democratic agony."

The Republican party of New York has made a splendid record for itself in the way of carrying out the coherent and intensive planks of great which have characterized the administration of the autocrats, and it has shown a capacity for practical reform and a determination to save them not which make the glorious duties of the United cities loaning supremely citizens. There will be no sympathy with its alleged desire to relieve among the patient voters in New York, who are now approving under the effort of the Roosevelt backbone which have taken hold and had the dam corrupt among. The night as well look to sympathy with reform among the followers of Cyrus Field-ers and Otto Kelchums. Nothing is the job thing they want. Its occasion of reform could be suggested which would not deprive them of power and control their experience for enacting and carrying out laying [illegible].

The reform bills which have been passed by the Legislature will disrupt the political organization of New York City as violently and utter as to many of the old spoils-grown extraction spoil and as many of the old bar-nacles that have been fastened so long upon the administration that Tweed would not recognize a change to have to come back to it. Encouraging as the outlook is, however, the Legislature has been negligent in one respect. One law remains to be passed which would be the very crown of its splendid record of reform legislation. We allude to high license. The [illegible] have been subjected to it, among them one very closely watched upon our own Harper law, but no action has been taken, and there is danger that the Legislature may adjourn without action. The Albany Evening Journal and other influential State papers are urging it not to delay any longer, as it is demanded by public sentiment. The Journal says:

Concerning some things in regard to the license bills, as the amount of the fees, the [illegible] there will be considerable [illegible] a great many [illegible] it would be clear of all [illegible] about the [illegible] and some [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

New York, April 20.—[Special.]—The World's London cable says: It may come to the Liberal Unionists tolerating under the direction of Sir Charles Dilke's Parnell has way to the leadership of the Irish Nationalist party. That person should be promptly understood. Your correspondent found Mr. Parnell at the Imperial Hotel today. Questioned in a position as to his regard the question of the leadership, he laughed and said:

"Just look like it? No. I have no intelligence of having the post to which my friends have called me that I have within the last week made engagements which will occupy the next five years of my life."

"Do have you, then, made any move to make outgoing your leadership?"

"No, and I distinctly authorize you to state, especially to our friends in America, that I have no intention of doing so."

"What are the chances of the success of your campaign in Parliament?"

"As favorable as can be. The Irish Nationalist cause is encouraged by the overwhelming vote of its representatives last Friday, and I have good reason to believe that the principles which I represent will have a larger following this year than ever before. The Irish party is entering a very active factor in the English Parliament, and you will hear more than ever before from it."

New York, April 20.—[Special.]—The World's London cable says: King Leopold, of the Belgians, is engaged in an enterprise having for its object the founding of a new route for ocean travel between America and the Old World. The route selected will be down from New York to about the fortieth parallel, and along that to the European coast, still the European coast of Lisbon or Cadiz. The Portuguese and Spanish Governments have both been consulted upon the subject, and will, it is understood, do all in their power to encourage such a scheme. The King of the Belgians is about to improve the harbor facilities at the Antwerp port of entry. The new route, the Belgian claim, will be from 500 to 600 miles shorter than the route to Liverpool, and will have the luxury islands as a sort of half-way station if necessary.

Dr. Edward Tuke, of the London Truth, in advance in its recent issues, in the last words, using the following to illustrate of the term "society" as applied to the so-called "Let us say that the epithets 'polite' and 'private,' in their application to periodical, and to particular journals, are hopelessly and illogically misused. Let it be found possible to distinguish the medical from the of the profession of a chemist's Minister of the Crown, or a Bishop, or a Judge, or a Member of Parliament, or a Peer, or a Duke, or a Prince of the Blood, or a Royal Personage, by any such term as 'polite' or 'private,' is not applicable to journals, and to journals alone. Nobody talks of a polite lawyer, polite doctor, polite bishop, polite judge, polite member of Parliament, polite peer, polite duke, polite prince of the blood, polite royal personage, or polite anything else. But there is one person to whom the term of 'polite' is applicable, and that is a polite journalist. Such a person is a polite journalist, and a polite journalist is a polite person."

Madrid, April 20.—A letter was received from Mr. Sagasta by one of his friends in this city yesterday, in which he announced that he will again leave for the middle of May. Referring to the transfer to St. Petersburg and the resignation, he says that he is not in a position to promise to any other country at the present time. He promises, however, to visit other countries in the autumn

The Tremendous Transition—Thoughts on the Death of Col. Hammond.

Brief Words spoken in Tribute of the Church powerful morning. On account having special reference to the death of the late Col. Hammond.

The text is a list of the promises of the Lord—Psalm xxxvii, 5.

Never since the group of the worshipers of Quadriad under the two great books—Old and Divine—for was a more discriminate for the good Shepherd—adequate to meet the whole and the sad and bereavement surroundings. It became necessary therefore to determine a place where the Master and would him there. Thirdly—what the Immortal Psalm. It was the place most of the misery of bereaved and of anxious colloquentes. On last passed up out of the internal fear and shrink, and to:

1. Love glimpse of the two very many.
2. Let to that which I believe.
3. Love and have trusted grace.

In the darkness and terrors of fall a guide has been necessary for the consecration text—the text concerning one has never counted the guide but consolatory who have saving trouble.

[illegible]

Upon the Rock Stone Him. Then the pleasure and the guide. Before the Son was made the Father's Kingdom, but they [illegible] Him. Then the Father's Kingdom and Son [illegible] Him. Then the Father's Kingdom and Son [illegible] Him.

Such are the words with which David begins the sketch of the covenant promise, and it clearly that the perfect assurance the psalmist would to which we are all still beginning this gain of death that we may and trouble if the Kingdom of the saints is all and consist that this and earth to be that "another land" which the Queen of Sheba accommodation was to look for on the other side of the river. Still and Heaven and [illegible] accommodations for the Golden Gate, but instead of finding there and gate Jerusalem express harvest. David did not and what your work is to plan to the Queen of Sheba did? We may and expect that one on place such has been much injured by all that and geography which to understand the power of God in the world affairs. I fear our Christian philosophy about which does keep the earth in a prominent shock, but Queen of the Eastern and Latin empires was be given to be more on this the Golden Testament of the Middle Ages. In reality, the early Christian church did not so much emphasis a contempt for earth as indeed it was the Eastern and Roman Fathers, which caused the hope by philosophy from the to growing. You see the glorious facts around Napoleon, Bonn, Socrates, Aurelius, and Baltimore and this Freeman rode till from the dying force of paganism only to be taken up and born to the Divine church.

A prominent [illegible] phrase Psalm, a prominent way to the following [illegible] Queen:

IN GENERAL.

Dr. S. C. Phares, of Fayetteville, N. Y., who left on his way to the Klondike, was subpoenaed to go to the front as the Spanish War Chronicle stated, if Dr. Phares had left Chicago before the order arrived. The physician, who is a graduate of Bellevue Medical College, New York, and has practiced in Chicago for many years, thought he had a chance of recovery.

In a quarrel at the saloon of John Rudnick, at the corner of Wells and Chicago avenues, Fred Schmidt, who boards at the Rudnick home, was stabbed in the head with a table knife and probably fatally injured. Rudnick, the two sons, Charles and John Rudnick, and John Schmidt were arrested.

Charles Schell, Spanish and a typewriter, engaged them in a lively quarrel in a Clark street saloon, where he had boarded for the last few days. Experiences of the engaged couple, it was said, were of a painful nature, and when Schell refused to pay for the drinks consumed by the party he was thrown out of the saloon by the bartender. Schell returned with a policeman, who arrested the bartender and Spanish. The latter was released on bail, but Schell was locked up at the Harrison street station.

Frederick Hoffman, who lives at 1311 Fifty-first court, was arrested yesterday on a charge of assault and battery preferred by Mrs. Mary Hoffman, his wife. Hoffman is charged with beating his wife with a broom handle
